A motion was argued that the case of Carpenter vs. Paracenti et al be restored to the docket, and the judge took the papers.

Hearings were ordered in two weeks in the case of Weinstein vs. Cohen on a motion for default for failure to plead.

On a motion for default for failure to file reasons for appeal, pleadings were ordered in two weeks in the case of Burdick et al, appeal from probate.

In the suit of Little vs. Reed a reply is to be filed and the order that the parties interplead was granted.

Two weeks were allowed for pleadings in the case of Golewold, admx., vs. the New Haven road.

In the case of Hendrick vs. White a motion to expunge and the argument of a demurrer were heard, and the judge took the papers.

A demurrer was argued in the case of Davis vs. Manwaring, admr., appeal from probate, and the judge took the papers.

Mrs. Ignoria Karoll of Norwich was allowed alimony of $1.50 from her husband, Henry P. Karoll, until the divorce suit she has begun against him is ended. The payment of alimony is to date from Sept. 23.

Mrs. Karoll testified in the court of her need of money to support herself while seeking divorce from her husband. She is seeking the decree on the ground of cruelty.

Mrs. Karoll testified in her own behalf was asked by Attorney Shields, counsel for Mr. Karoll, if she had not on one occasion hit her husband over the head with a stick. Attorney Perkins for Mrs. Karoll objected and Judge Reed sustained the objection, telling the lawyers to confine themselves to the matter under discussion and not go into the details of the case.

Mrs. Bessie Bolton King of New London was divorced from Joseph King. The ground was desertion. Mrs. King was given the custody of the only child.

Ida M. Batty of Mystic was given a decree from Clyde J. Batty on the ground of desertion, and she was allowed to change her name. The husband resides in Mystic also.

Edith M. Elkins of New London was given a divorce from Frederick S. Elkins. The ground was cruelty. Mrs. Elkins was given custody of a two year old daughter.

William H. Thurman of Norwich was given a divorce from Mary E. Thurman. Desertion was the ground.

The divorce suits of Frederick A. Stellanwerf vs. Charles A. Stellanwerf and Carrie E. Blitgood vs. Abraham L. Blitgood were postponed a week.

On the grounds of desertion, Charles W. Martin was given a divorce from Mary L. Martin. The desertion took place Sept. 10, 1905.

The divorce case of Henry W. Gardner vs. Mary E. Gardner was heard and continued for proof of service. A jury will be drawn in New London Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock and will be summoned in for the 17th.

Cases Assigned.

The following cases were assigned for trial at New London:

Tuesday, Oct. 10—Ryan vs. Cooney, Geer vs. Ackers.

Wednesday, Oct. 11—Mercer vs. town of Montville, Hankin vs. Hankin, Case, admr., vs. Fahy.

Thursday, Oct. 12—Walton vs. Smith, Daly vs. Norwich Savings society. That the New London lawyers are not anxious to try their cases is evidenced by the number of Norwich attorneys appearing in the cases assigned.

In the first cases assigned for Tuesday and Thursday, New London lawyers appear on both sides, with a Norwich attorney assisting the plaintiff in the Thursday case. A New London firm appears for the defendant in the second case Tuesday, but the counsel in the other cases on both sides are from this city.

BROWN AND FOSS

ARE CHAMPIONS

Decided in Two-Hour Match by Winning from Olcott and Mitchell.

Allyn L. Brown and Frank H. Foss, paired for tennis doubles, won the Norwich doubles championship on Friday afternoon in a two-hour match in which they defeated W. Tyler Olcott and John A. Mitchell in a close and exciting match, which was only decided after five sets had been played, the last going in favor of Brown and Foss, 6-3, 6-4, 6-6, 4-6 and 10-8. On the total games won in the match, Brown and Foss led by only one game, 26 to 25.

The champion pair got a flying start in the first two sets, winning them, 6-3 and 6-4, but in the third set Olcott and Mitchell came into their game, and taking advantage of a let down on the part of their opponents swept them off the court in a love set, 8-0.

Olcott and Mitchell were dead in form in the fourth set, winning that 6-4, and making the match stand even at two sets all, although at one time Brown and Foss were within a point or two of winning out, when a disputed point came up over a ball driven to the back line by Brown, which hit at Mitchell's feet.

For the fifth and deciding set of the match, both pairs were on their mettle and every point was fought for, bringing the game to 5 all and forcing it into a device set, which took eight games to decide. With the score
